3-Pound Baby, Born In Ambulance, Dies

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP) — A three-pound baby born in an ambulance speeding here from nearby Greenup died Friday in St. Anthony's hospital shortly after birth.

The mother, Mrs. Frank Williams, Summerville, N. J., was riding home with her husband from Los Angeles when she became aware of the approaching birth.

Williams took his wife to a Greenup physician who ordered the ambulance and started the 23-mile race to Effingham with Mrs. Williams.

Effingham County Coroner George Wood said the infant died when its lungs collapsed. Attendants reported the mother was in fair condition.

Township Assessors, Deputies to Meet at Court House Tuesday

Township assessors of Saline county and their deputies have been called to a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the court room of the court house by Maynard Cannon, county treasurer who is ex officio supervisor of assessments.

This meeting is being called just prior to the start of work by the assessors, who are scheduled to start making their real estate and personal property tax assessments April 2.

"This is a very important meeting," so please plan to attend with your deputies," Mr. Cannon said in his announcement to the assessors.

Main Purpose of American Policy Is to Avert War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warns the United States must keep a military and economic "protective umbrella" over free Asian nations or lose them to Communism.

"If we wish to see the free world preserved and enlarged, we must help, or forces of despotism will take control," Dulles said Friday night in a nationwide radio-TV report on his Far Eastern tour.

The most ominous note of his report concerned the Formosa Straits area where Nationalist and Red Chinese military forces exchange gunfire almost daily.

"The spot in the Far East where, at the moment, conflict most threatens is the Taiwan (Formosa) area," Dulles said.

Fighting Again Flares Up

American officials said in elaborating on the secretary's statement that the main purpose of U.S. policy in the troubled Formosa area is to "make sure it does not flare into war."

Dulles said the United States is striving in negotiations with the Chinese Communists "for a reciprocal renunciation of force with particular relation to this Taiwan area."

The secretary said his 19-day tour of 10 Far Eastern nations also pointed up the danger which Soviet and Chinese Communist programs of economic penetration and "hatred" pose to freedom in Asia.

He said the trip made him more convinced than ever of the merits of the administration's beefed-up foreign aid program. The program would grant new authority for long-range economic projects, to combat the Communist programs.

Starts Serving Term At Menard Prison

William Roberts, 18, of Eldorado, was taken to Menard penitentiary Friday to start serving a one-to-three year sentence.

Roberts was sentenced to the state penitentiary March 16 by Circuit Judge C. Ross Reynolds after Roberts admitted the allegations in a petition to revoke his probation.

He was taken to Menard by Saline County Sheriff William Barrett and Deputy Everett Sneed.

Cocktail is 'Major Tool' of American Foreign Policy, State Dep't Official Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department feels a friendly cocktail is "a major tool" of American foreign policy.

And the department feels they have never been used to their full effectiveness, either.

Deputy Undersecretary of State Louis W. Henderson outlined State Department policy on cocktails in testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee. The testimony was released Friday night.

Henderson testified in connection with the department's request for one-million dollars to pay for entertainment in U. S. embassies and consulates.

He said the lunches, receptions and dinners which fall under the category of entertainment create friends for the United States. He said they make the embassy a sort of international center, and add to the prestige and influence of the United States.

"And they make everybody feel good," Rep. John J. Rooney (D-NY) asked.

"They encourage friendly feel-

OIL REPORT: Dry Holes Mark Completions For This Week

Taken from the Robertson Tri-State Oil Report

The three Saline county completions for the period ending March 21 were dry holes.

They were the Buchanan-O'Neal George G. Mugge, SW NE NW, 20-98-66, and Vickery's Mugge Heirs No. 1, SW NE SE, 36-98-66 (both Harrisburg township) and E. F. Morar's Chesser No. 1, NE NW NW, 10-85-76 (Eldorado township).

Other activity: Lauderdale's Bona Communitec No. 1, NW SE SE, 15-88-56 (Galatia) awaited cable tools to test the Aux Vases.

Olen D. Sharp's Pearl Webber No. 2, SW SE SW, 10-88-56, was on flow testing the RC at 2968-88. It swabbed 456 barrels of oil in 12 hours naturally and flowed 35 barrels of oil an hour through a choke after acid and fracture.

Delwood's Delwood Hefflin No. 1, SE NE NW, 15-88-56, was on pump testing the Aux Vases. Delwood's Delwood Hefflin No. 2, NE NE NW, 15-88-56, was on flow testing the Aux Vases at 2866-84, the Aux Vases line at 2916-25 and the O'Hara at 2954-57 and 2971-79.

Phillips' Noble "A" No. 2, 380 feet north and 330 feet east of SW NE NE, 16-88-56, was testing the Aux Vases. It flowed 30 barrels of oil an hour after fracture.

Accident Claims Its Second Life

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A traffic accident in Marion County, Ill., has claimed its second life.

Oran Cummins, 30, Sandoval, died in a hospital here Thursday night of injuries received when his car collided with another Sunday night. His wife died an hour after the crash.

The Gallatin county champion, James R. Hopson, was the sixth contestant to be eliminated, bowing out on the word "assassin."

Young Hopson is a 13-year-old eighth grader.

Thirteen year old Marie Nesthus of Jasper, Ind., won the Bee when she correctly spelled "picnicked" in the 25th round. She took the championship after correcting "naphtha" when Mary Ellen Salmon of Hookins county, Ky., misspelled "naphtha." A happy and excited Marie will now go to Washington, D. C., where she will compete with the best spellers in the nation May 17.

Nancy was accompanied to the spelling bee by her teacher, Bertis Smith, principal of the College Heights school, her mother, Marjorie Hardesty, Mrs. Bertis Smith, and John R. Murphy, assistant county superintendent of schools.

The spelling contest at the stage of the village was held on the Evansville Union building of the Evansville college. Each contestant spelled college. They were not allowed to make a correction once they had sounded the letter, and one mistake spelled doom.

Seven Last Words Thursday Evening By HTHS Choir

The Harrisburg Township high school choir will give its annual performance of "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Theodore Dubois at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening, March 29, in the First Methodist church.

This very beautiful musical setting of Our Lord's last words has become a traditional part of Holy Week observance in our community.

John Schork, director of the high school choir, says that this is the musical occasion to which the students look forward most eagerly every year. Even after students are graduated they like to be at home to join the choir in presenting "The Seven Last Words."

This year a number of alumni will be singing with the student choir, making a group of seventy members in all. Soloists for this year's presentation will include two of the former student soloists who sang the same parts during their high school days. Bill Johnson of Eldorado and Bob Beltz of Paducah will sing the tenor and baritone solo. The soprano solos will be sung by Dorothy Hanning, a senior member of the choir. Mrs. Robert Norman will be organist.

The time for the program has been moved up to eight o'clock in the hope that business men and their employees will be able to attend. It is the sincere hope of people will be present to hear this beautiful and inspiring program.

Nancy Hardesty Is Sixth in Tri-State Spelling Bee

Nancy Hardesty, eighth grade pupil of College Heights school and Saline county spelling champion took sixth place in the Evansville Press Spelling Bee held at Evansville College Union building Friday morning. Nancy was the 19th to leave the contest out of a group of 24 from the tri-state area.

It seemed for a while that Nancy would go all the way, but she slipped on "indispensible." She used an "e" instead of an "i" after the "d."

The Gallatin county champion, James R. Hopson, was the sixth contestant to be eliminated, bowing out on the word "assassin."

Young Hopson is a 13-year-old eighth grader.

Thirteen year old Marie Nesthus of Jasper, Ind., won the Bee when she correctly spelled "picnicked" in the 25th round. She took the championship after correcting "naphtha" when Mary Ellen Salmon of Hookins county, Ky., misspelled "naphtha." A happy and excited Marie will now go to Washington, D. Nancy was accompanied to the spelling bee by her teacher, Bertis Smith, principal of the College Heights school, her mother, Marjorie Hardesty, Mrs. Bertis Smith, and John R. Murphy, assistant county superintendent of schools.

The spelling contest at the stage of the village was held on the Evansville Union building of the Evansville college. Each contestant spelled college. They were not allowed to make a correction once they had sounded the letter, and one mistake spelled doom.

The following men were chosen by Mrs. Bramlet to serve on the board: Loren Dallas, manager of O'Keefe Company, Carrier Mills; H. G. Maynor, state's attorney of Pope county, Golconda; J. Blechle, president of the Rosiclare Lead and Fluorspar Mining Company, Rosiclare; Horace G. Brown, Gallatin county superintendent of schools, Shawneetown; Audra A. Stone, principal of the Jefferson elementary school, Eldorado; R. G. Putnam, businessman of Eldorado; Jack D. Simmons, principal of the elementary school at Rosiclare; Howard Wright, county superintendent of schools in Pope county.

Indict Spinster For $171,000 Embezzlement

Springfield Woman Had Been Employed At Bank for 34 Years

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A "devout" spinster who for 34 years had been employed by the Springfield Marine Bank Friday was indicted for embezzlement of $171,000 from the bank.

A federal grand jury returned a true bill against Miss Helen Rose Mulcahey, 58, Springfield, charging embezzlement, misapplication of funds and false entries in the bank's books.

Bank officials and investigators indicated the money was used for investments in oil properties, and there was "little indication" she had used the money to finance expensive tastes or for lavish living.

The nine-count indictment, returned before Federal Judge Charles G. Briggie, charged the misuse of money included drafts of $18,000 and $9,000 to the Illinois Oil Co., Tulsa, Okla.

Bank President George W. Bunn said the embezzlement was covered by insurance. He said the General Casualty Company of America, Seattle, Wash., the firm which underwrote the employee's bond, had already covered the loss.

Each of the nine counts carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine. The various counts include the embezzlement charges, false entries and several instances of illegal diversion of funds.

Bunn, who said Miss Mulcahey was one of the "better paid" employees of the bank, said she had concealed the embezzlement by diverting bank drafts to her own use and covering them with drafts still outstanding.

He said the woman apparently had been involved in these maneuvers for several years. The discrepancies were discovered in a routine audit last month. Miss Mulcahey waived preliminary hearing Feb. 27 and was freed under $10,000 bond. She will be arraigned in Federal Court Wednesday.

Bunn said Miss Mulcahey apparently had been very careful to avoid any use of the money locally or to arouse suspicion in Springfield.

She was also described as "very devout" and a daily church-goer. Miss Mulcahey lived in a modest apartment with a niece, whom she had adopted. Acquaintances said she helped a number of other nieces and nephews attend school, by providing a home for them in the city.

U. S. Rejects Japanese Plea to Suspend Nuclear Tests in Pacific

Be Brave Little Soldier, Ike Tells Burned Boy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has urged a critically burned Washington boy to be "a brave little soldier."

Charles McGettigan, 9, suffered third-degree burns over half of his body March 4 when a flare exploded.

He received a letter Friday night signed by Presidential Secretary Ann C. Whitman. The President recently learned about your accident and asked me to send you this note of friendly greeting and good wishes," the letter said.

"At a time like this, it takes a lot of faith and courage, but he is sure you are a brave little soldier and that your recovery will be a speedy one."

The Japanese request was prompted by results of the big hydrogen bomb test explosion March 1, 1954, in which more than a score of Japanese fishermen were dusted with radioactive "fallout."

One of the Japanese later died. The Atomic Energy Commission has indicated its new Pacific tests will begin shortly after April 20. It issued a public warning March 1 that a 420,000 square-mile area around the Marshall Islands proving ground will be a "danger area effective April 20."

The test shots, slated to include experimental firing of "small" H-bombs and nuclear warheads for anti-aircraft and other missiles, are expected to continue into June or possibly July.

Rev. J. F. Gill to Hold Revival Services at McKinley Avenue Baptist

Rev. J. F. Gill

The McKinley Avenue Baptist church will hold revival services Sunday, March 25 through April 7, with Rev. J. F. Gill as evangelist.

Rev. Gill is pastor of the Second Baptist church of West Frankfort, and is well-known throughout Illinois by his powerful, persuasive preaching. Maynard Cannon, church music director, will direct the singing. There will be special music each evening.

The pastor, J. D. McCarty, and evangelist will be on WEBQ radio station, March 28. The church choir will be present to bring you the song service. Everyone is invited to attend the days of revival.

Norma McDonald Wins PTA Scholarship

Miss Norma McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall McDonald, 1027 South Washington, and a senior at the Harrisburg Township high school, has been awarded a four year scholarship by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, it was announced today by Mrs. Wendell Bramlet, director of District 30 of the I. C. P. T.

First alternate is Miss Marilyn Gelsosky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gelsosky, 810 West Pine, and second alternate is Miss Nancy Fulkerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Fulkerson, 506 West Sloan.

These girls were chosen from a total of ten students in district 30 which is composed of four counties: Saline, Hardin, Pope and Gallatin. The voting took place in the office of the county superintendent of schools, C. R. Gardner, Thursday night.

The following men were chosen by Mrs. Bramlet to serve on the board: Loren Dallas, manager of O'Keefe Company, Carrier Mills; H. G. Maynor, state's attorney of Pope county, Golconda; J. Blechle, president of the Rosiclare Lead and Fluorspar Mining Company, Rosiclare; Horace G. Brown, Gallatin county superintendent of schools, Shawneetown; Audra A. Stone, principal of the Jefferson elementary school, Eldorado; R. G. Putnam, businessman of Eldorado; Jack D. Simmons, principal of the elementary school at Rosiclare; Howard Wright, county superintendent of schools in Pope county.

Spreads Five Inches in N. Y., Massachusetts

Colder Weather Predicted in Midwestern Areas

By United Press
The third storm in eight days swept from Michigan into the northeastern states today, piling up more than 5 inches of snow in central New York and Massachusetts.

Highways were covered by a thick blanket. Snow removal crews were ordered out to attempt to prevent the paralyzing tieup of a week ago when up to 15 inches of snow stalled traffic.

In South Boston, the luck of the Irish faded again. A St. Patrick's Day parade, postponed last week because of snow, was called off as the storm hit. Some 30,000 marchers had been scheduled to parade. The southern fringe of the storm hit New York City and up to four inches was expected in the metropolitan area. In Connecticut and Massachusetts from 6 to 10 inches was predicted.

Cold wave warnings were issued for today and tonight in West Virginia and Virginia and much colder weather predicted for the southern Midwest and the Ohio Valley.

Three to seven inches of new snow was on the ground from a snowstorm Friday in a band stretching across southern Michigan.

Jackson, Mich., reported an accumulation of 10 inches of snow and Grand Rapids and Detroit, Mich., had 7 inches.

The snowstorm moving into New York and Pennsylvania today dropped 4 inches in six hours at Erie, Pa., and 3 inches at Buffalo, N. Y.

Rain showers fell south of the snow belt in Illinois and Indiana and moved eastward across Ohio, into Pennsylvania.

Scattered rains also fell in northwestern Oregon and near Seattle, Wash.

The wave of cold air following the snowstorm dropped the mercury to only 1 above zero at Grand Forks, N. D., early today. Northern Minnesota reported near zero temperatures.

In the Southwest and Rocky Mountain states skies were clear with temperatures in the high 70s and low 80s.

3-Year-Old Boy Dies Near Eldorado

Louis Edward Hayes, three year old son of Louis and Frances Hayes of Wasson, died at the home of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wood Hayes of the Broughton road Friday at 3 p. m.

He also leaves a brother, William Eugene, at home, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hooker of Harrisburg.

The body is in care of the Martin funeral home in Eldorado but will later lie in state at the home of grandparents in Eldorado. The funeral will be Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Church of the Living God on O'Gara street in Harrisburg. Rev. Hyman Cantrell will officiate and burial will be in Wolf Creek cemetery in Eldorado.

Resigns Illinois Welfare Post

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Agnes A. Sharp, 63, Chicago, said today she resigned her job as chief of volunteer services of the Illinois Public Welfare Department to take a higher paying position.

Dr. Sharp is a clinical and consulting psychologist. She said she will leave her $7,920 a year state job for a position in private industry which pays more money.

Dr. Sharp has been employed by the state since 1951. She was named "Woman of Distinction" by the Chicago Women's Advertising Club last year.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

O Death, where is thy victory,
O death, where is thy sting. I
Cor. 15:55.
Physicians who have noted the death of countless Christians have agreed that the normal expression of a dying person was one of in-effable beauty. Louise Johnson was in a coma for three days after the birth of her son. Regaining consciousness she said she had been on the other side, and she had been received by loved ones in an atmosphere of unspeakable loveliness. Don't ask me to come back. It is so sweet to die.

Don't Be Farm Accident Statistic

What is an unnecessary statistic?
Here's an example: 14,500
farm people in the U. S. died accidental deaths last year.
Here we are three months into 1936, and what have you done today to make your farm and home
a safer place in which to live? asks O. L. Hogsett, University of Illinois extension safety specialist.

During the year of 1934, about a million and one quarter other people suffered loss-of-time injuries.
That is another good reason why
we must concentrate on safety
more than ever this year. Remember that, in addition to the loss of life and physical suffering, victims of serious farm accidents cannot do their part in producing needed food and fiber.

More workers are accidentally killed in farm work than in any other major industry. Agriculture, of course, has the largest number of workers. But the accidental death rate on farms is about three times as high as the rate for workers in industrial plants where safety precautions are rigidly observed.
Can you afford to be lax in your safety precautions? Do you want to be an accident statistic this year?

Agents Honored At Roundup of IAA Service

(CHICAGO)—Two members of the Salina county agency force were among agents honored at the 28th
annual Roundup of IAA Insurance Service for outstanding service to Illinois Farm Bureau members.
The annual Roundup, held February 26th through 28th at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago, was hosted by more than 1,000 Farm Bureau members, agents and home
office staff members.

Agency Manager James Henderson and Special Agent L. G. Williams were among the agents honored.

Agency Manager Henderson was honored at the meeting for directing the agency force to more than 17 per cent of its annual life goal in January and, for this achievement, won a night's lodging for his wife and himself at the famous Mille Laes Lake Resort while enroute to the 1936 All-Star near Brainerd, Minn. Special Agent
Williams also qualified for the Mille Laes Lake lodging for himself and his wife by producing 25 per cent of his annual goal in January.

The Salina county agency force was further honored when it was announced that they were one of 36 counties to produce 17 per cent or more of their annual life goal in the 700 million campaign of Country Life. They produced $201-665 during this period. This is more than 450 per cent of their annual life goal. The entire Salina county agency force received a standing ovation for this contribution toward another major milestone of the Country Life Insurance company. In recognition of this achievement, they are to receive a plaque. The plaque will have the name and individual production of each member of the agency
force inscribed upon it.

Agency Manager Henderson and Special Agents L. G. Williams, William A. Beggs and Lesley O.
Starnes comprise the Salina county

Farm Fryers Becoming Scarce As Hen's Teeth

Farm fryers are becoming about as scarce as hen's teeth,
says D. J. Bray, University of Illinois poultry specialist.

Commercial broiler plants produce young poultry so efficiently
that fryer production is no longer profitable for the average farmer,
the specialist says. The commercial broiler producer has a large volume of uniform birds available which command a higher price.

Market prices for farm fryers,
on the other hand, are low because there isn't a well established market for them. Buyers discriminate against them because they come in small numbers and vary in size and quality.

Bray says that's why most egg producers buy only sexed chicks today. They know, too, that cockerels of egg producing strains mature early and may damage young pullets before the cockerels are sold.

This shift has its advantages,
Bray points out. Most poultrymen raise better pullets from sexed chicks. The birds have more room to grow and the poultryman doesn't have to buy or build housing and equipment for the cockerels.

Illinois Farmers Plan One Per Cent Cut in Acreage

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Illinois
farmers are planning a total 1936 crop acreage about 1 per cent smaller than last year, the state federal Crop Reporting Service said today.

A survey indicated, however,
that farmers plan a 5 per cent reduction in corn acreage, 8,900-000 acres compared with 9,400,000
acres last year.

But if the state's farmers carry out their present plans they will plant a record soybean acreage,
4,700,000 acres compared with 4-400,000 acres in 1935.

Small increases are expected in wheat and hay, offset by decreased plantings of barley and rye, the crop service said.

The service said subsoil moisture throughout the state is short, except in southern counties where February rains were heavy. But moisture supplies appear adequate for current needs.

Buffer Strips

Soil is venerable; it is precious;
it is wasted. Scientists estimate that it takes 500 to 600 years to build one inch of topsoil. Since the day of the Pilgrims, a scant one-half inch has been made. The life-giving six inches of topsoil predates the birth of Christ by more than 100 years. Yet though less tillage may cause this gift of centuries to be lost in a short 25 years. The soil built since the day of the Pilgrims may be washed away in only two or three years.

George McKibben, crops and soils specialist, has the responsibility of establishing permanent pastures on the Big Wells tract.
The Big Wells tract has a problem. Nearly one-third of its 80 acres is one long, steep, continuous slope, falling off as much as 9 to 10 feet in every 100 feet. We thought George was exercising real caution when he plowed only alternate, narrow bands across the hillside, leaving green, sod buffer strips to catch moving soil and to

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

Each farmer usually decides his soil conservation practices for his farm on a dollars and cents basis.
So says Carroll V. Hess, Southern Illinois university agricultural economist and supervisor of Test Farms.

Successful conservation farming
cannot be tailor-made for farms in general but must be considered as an individual situation for each farm. Much has been done about how to get the conservation job done, but understanding is not so good on the economic considerations that keep farmers from adopting the program after the technical problems have been solved.

In the true sense, soil conservation means using natural resources in such a way that they may be passed on to future generations in a state of productivity that will make possible a better living standard than at present.

The farmer must analyze his problems to determine his costs and returns for the farm as a whole under alternate combinations of crops, fertility treatments, and supporting conservation measures to decide which system best fits his capital resources, his own abilities, his family interests, and his goals while doing the conservation job. He cannot practice conservation that wastes his other resources. His job is to allocate all his resources among the competing uses for his farm and decide which is best.

From an economic standpoint a farmer ought to choose the conservation plan that will maximize the present value of all future earnings or profits, Hess says. If the farmer puts a high preference on his present income and looks little to future profits, he can get it only at the expense of future production. The result is depletion of resources, not conservation.

The more distant in the future that the use of soil resources is extended, the greater is the degree of conservation. Therefore, the level of conservation depends on the farmer's attitude toward future income, his degree of insecurity about future economic conditions, his family objectives, his likes and skills, his capital and credit position, and his tenure situation.

Credit and tenure are big factors in a farmer's approach to soil conservation programs. If he is leasing, or has little financial reserve for operation and foresees declining farm income, he naturally will be more interested in getting greater present income. He will have less concern for conservation which puts off the time when he may reap a higher return for his work and his investment. High fixed charges discourage conservation.

On the other hand, if arrangements are such that rents, interest, and taxes are flexible, the farmer will be more interested in conservation. Obviously, cash reserves or credit are essential to a conservation plan. Studies indicate that it usually takes until the fifth year before the initially reduced income from instituting a conservation plan is overcome by the resulting improved returns.

Here are some observations on credit conservation practices:
Terms need to be flexible to meet particular cases, and interest and principal payments should vary with income. The repayment schedule should be set up and adjusted to the increase in income resulting from the conservation plan.

Some tenure conditions encouraging to conservation programs are long term or renewable leases, a sliding scale of cash rents with conservation commitments, and compensation for the unexhausted portions of the improvements.

Picker-shellers and sheller combines have been used very successfully for corn harvest in the cash-grain belt.

Rough-Plowed Strip

Last week we learned that George was being even more cautious than we had first suspected.
One-half of the plowed strips were disked and band-seeded to oats,
tall fescue and sericea lespedeza.
The other half of each plowed strip was left in the rough. Because a new seedbed is especially vulnerable to the ravages of a downpour, George will not gamble with the whole strip. Instead, and only after a protective cover of oats, fescue and sericea has been established, he will disc and plant corn on the rest of the strip. If the cover of oats and grass is good, he will plow and plant corn on the sod buffers. The corn will be removed for silage. Early this fall grass and small grain will be seeded for winter cover.

George's plans for the Big Wells reflect his appreciation of sound, economic practices as well as his deep veneration of an ageless soil.

Use Performance Tests to Cull Beef Cattle

DIXON SPRINGS — Results of tests at the Dixon Springs Experimental Station of the University of Illinois show the value of selecting beef cattle on the basis of their doing ability.

R. J. Webb, Station superintendent, reports that rate and efficiency of gain, weaning weights, type and condition scores are the important factors being measured in the breeding program.

Rate of gain fortunately is highly inherited, Webb says, and is easily measured by regular weighing. Efficiency of gain is directly tied in with rate so that selecting the fast gainers also picks out the efficient doers.

Weaning weight of the calf is an important measurement of the mothering ability of the cow. It also reflects the ability of the bull to transmit growth. It is easily measured by a scale. Type and condition scores are a measure of production quality and are aids in keeping selection on an even keel.
You can see how to apply this data in your breeding program

by the way yearling heifers are selected on the Station to keep in the herd for replacement cows.
From a group of 119 yearling heifers available there last fall, about 60 were needed to replace cows culled from the herd. Weaning weights fall weights and type and condition scores were kept on each heifer. It was easy to figure gain from weaning to yearling and quality of each heifer.

Since about half of the heifers were to be kept, those gaining above the average joined the herd and those below the average were fed out. One heifer that had gained above the average was culled because of a poor score, leaving 58 heifers in the "keeper" group and 61 in the culls.

A summary on these two groups
shows that the "keeper" heifers weighed only 15 pounds more on the average at weaning than the cull group. But they scored 2-3 of a point higher in type and condition and weighed 87 pounds more on the average as yearlings.

A listing of the bulls that sired
these heifers shows that certain bulls have most of their daughters in the keeper group, while those of certain other bulls wind up in the cull group.

Since rate of gain is inherited,
Webb can expect the keeper group to produce a faster gaining set of calves than would the cull group if they were kept. Knowing the sires of these heifers also helps him to pick the bulls to sell and the bulls to keep.

If you are interested in setting up a similar production testing program on your own farm, Webb suggests that you see your county farm adviser for complete details.

Mr. Farmer:

You could perhaps ask ten of your neighbors and friends
the reason they consign their livestock to Moody Commission Company, and perhaps everyone would give a different reason, but if you sum them all up it would finally come down to one reason, and that would be SERVICE.

Do not be misled by catch phrases and slogans — the only thing a commission firm has to offer is SERVICE. They have no inventory, they have no goods on the shelf, therefore, the only product of a successful commission firm is SERVICE.

We at Moody Commission Company are firmly convinced SERVICE in this business can only be offered to customers when you have a salesman for each and every class. Salesmen that have the trading "know how" and are not afraid to match their skill and ability with the buyers, a capable yard force, and an office force that gets your sale to you with accuracy and speed.

Two from County to Attend Tryout School
At Blackburn College
Nelson Eddings, son of Mrs.
Alma Sullivan of 103 West Sloan street, Harrisburg, and Edwin Lewellyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. T.
S. Lewellyn of Carrier Mills RFD, are among 157 students selected to attend the Work-Committee tryout school at Blackburn college in Carlinville.

Instruction is given at the work school by the outgoing student work managers to those students who may be next year's managers.
The new work managers will be selected from those students invited to attend the school, the invitation being based on outstanding participation in the work program, academic standing, and extracurricular participation.

From the 157 invited to the school, thirty will be chosen for try-outs, assuming the selection position for one week. Ten of the thirty will be next year's managers.

Since 1913 the Blackburn physical plant has been completely planned, directed, and executed
by the students, under the leadership of the committee as is now being selected for next year.

Crescent Home Bureau Meets
With Mrs. Carl Woolcott
The Crescent Home Bureau unit met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Carl Woolcott.

Mrs. Frank Jarrells was in charge of the program which consisted of a minor topic "Program Interest Sheet" during which the members checked topics they would like to learn about in the new year.

The major topic, "Drapes for Your Windows," was given by Mrs. Eugene Irvin.

The business meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mrs. Roger Taylor.

During the social hour Mrs. Darrell Piper was awarded the door prize.

Pudding and whipped cream were served by the hostess and Mrs. Alonzo Shewmake to those mentioned and to the following: Mrs. Edgar Price, Mrs. Forrest Bynum, Mrs. John Jarrell, Mrs. Bill Ferrell, Mrs. James Stinson, Mrs. C. Wayne Brown, Mrs. Gurn Skelton, Mrs. Bob Lands and Mrs. Edgar Price.

J. R. Staiger, Harrisburg, who has been very ill due to a tumor, underwent surgery at the Barnes hospital, St. Louis, Friday. He rallied from the operation and attending surgeons and physicians have assured Mrs. Staiger that he will be all right and will be released in ten days to return home.

Arthur L. Debes, who has been visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Debes, since January when he was discharged from the Army, left Friday for Washington, D. C. He served two years with the Army and was discharged in January following his return from Japan.

Harry Barter, who has been quite ill and was a medical patient at Lightner hospital for several days, is at his residence on East Walnut street. It will be necessary for a few days to limit visiting in his room, Mrs. Barter said.

Mrs. Milo Slaton is in room 211 at Lightner hospital, recuperating from major surgery.

Malenkov Attends Races, But Does Not Meet Queen
AINTREE, England (AP)—Former Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov and Queen Elizabeth II went to the races today but they did not meet.

Both Malenkov and the British monarch watched Britain's Grand National Sweepstakes—but from different stands.

Malenkov is no longer a head of state and therefore rated no official reception from the Queen in London.

Some had thought there were prospects of a chance encounter, since the Queen often mixes with invited guests at the annual steeplechase classic. Malenkov was a guest of the race course owner.

Russian Ambassador Jacob Malik and Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko also went to the races with the former Soviet premier.

McAnnally Rites Sunday
At Walnut Grove Church
Funeral services for Arthur Spencer McAnnally, who died Thursday morning at the home of his son, Cecil, in Rosiclar, will be Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Walnut Grove Baptist church south of Harrisburg. Rev. Charles E. Holland of Golconda will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery.

The body lies in state at the home of the son.

Norma McDonald Wins Scholarship

land Phillips, Harrisburg, in 1953. Mary Shannon Taylor, Harrisburg, 1954, and Sarah Lowery, Golconda, 1955. The winners of previous years have expressed deep appreciation for the scholarships which have enabled them to continue their education.

Mrs. Bramlet has been elected to the second two-year term as director of District 30 and will be installed in April at the convention in Peoria. Her services are gratis and this year District 30 under her supervision had the largest gain of membership in the state of Illinois.

Fire in Denver
DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A general alarm fire burned out a four-story, 60-year-old building in the downtown business district today and resulted in hospitalization of at least 13 persons before it was brought under control.

The injured were firemen and policemen. They were hospitalized mostly for smoke inhalation treatment. None was in serious condition.

In Remembrance
In loving memory of Charles McClusky, who passed away March 24, 1953, three years ago today:

Little I knew with dawn of that morn,
The sorrow it would bring.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
I little thought the end was so near,
If all the world was mine to give,
I would give it, yes, and more
To see your smiling face again,
Come shining through this door.
Sometimes it is hard to understand,
Why some things have to be,
And of the way he had to die,
Without a chance to say goodbye,
Is beyond my power to see.
God gave me strength to bear it,
And courage to meet the blow,
But what it means to lose you,
This world will never know.

Sadly missed by his mother,
MRS. JOHN GABLE.

TO THE VOTERS OF SALINE COUNTY

In 1953 the State Legislature enacted a law placing the Coroners of the different counties of the state from a fee basis to a full time salary, effective Dec. 1, 1956. This salary is comparable to those paid the other elective officers of the county.

I believe, and I am sure you as voters will agree, that the man elected to this office, in view of the fact that he is paid a full time salary, should devote his entire time to the office.

SINCERELY,
ELMER M. GIBBONS

I have served you this present term in an efficient and conscientious manner and I assure you that if re-elected I will devote my entire time to the duties of the office. I am your candidate and will appreciate your support in the April 10th Republican primary.

Robert Gregg, 62, of Near Shawneetown Dies

Robert Gregg, 62, whose home was near Shawneetown, died in the Carmi Township hospital Friday afternoon.

The body is at the Wright funeral home in Shawneetown at which place the funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Westwood cemetery.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Florence Cox of near Ridgeway, and a son, Robert Gregg of Crossville.

McAnnally Rites Sunday
At Walnut Grove Church

Funeral services for Arthur Spencer McAnnally, who died Thursday morning at the home of his son, Cecil, in Rosiclar, will be Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Walnut Grove Baptist church south of Harrisburg. Rev. Charles E. Holland of Golconda will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery.

The body lies in state at the home of the son.

THROUGH DARKNESS
Clouds, smoke and fog over the city—darkness enveloping the streets—the church spires hidden! Presently the sun's rays pierce the clouds—the fog lifts—once more the church spires will point toward heaven for all to see.
So it is with life. Men and women grope about in darkness; clouds of doubt and the smoke of unbelief shut out God's glorious light. Then church bells peal—eyes and footsteps turn toward the house of God.
As sunlight dispels physical darkness, so God's message lifts the darkness from men's souls. Are you hearing that message? It sounds particularly clear on Palm Sunday morning when the story of Christ's triumphant entrance into Jerusalem is recalled.
The Church invites you. Will you come?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'The Meaning of Christ's Suffering'

Luke 23:41-43; 39-43
GOLDEN TEXT: "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed." (Isa. 53:5)

INTRODUCTION—Last week we studied about the Lord's Supper. It gives us a picture of the death of Jesus. The broken bread represents his broken body, and the fruit of the grape represents his shed blood on Calvary's Cross.

It is quite appropriate now that we study about his death on the cross. The thing that all of us need to know is that he died on Calvary's Cross.

It is quite appropriate now that we study about his death on the cross. The thing that all of us need to know is that he died on Calvary's Cross for us. Each one should say: "He died for me personally. My sin nailed him to the cross. Now, he is my own personal Saviour."

No night in history was ever darker than the earth became that Friday afternoon, about 3 p. m., when Jesus Christ "gave up the ghost," and said: "Father, into Thy hands I commend my Spirit."

My sin was ever blacker than the sin of crucifying Christ. No tragedy was ever greater than when he died for the sins of man. Yet, out of that blackness, darkness and tragedy, came the plan of salvation whereby your soul can be redeemed from eternal hell.

I. PILATE AND HEROD
CONDEMNED (VV. 4-11)

1. PILATE—This man evidently was drawn by the magnetic power of Christ. He really wanted to set Jesus free, because he could "find no fault in him." However, Pilate loved his political position to the extent that it brought about his final doom. He washed his hands ceremonially and said: "I am innocent of the blood of this just person, see ye to it." (Matthew 27:24). However, Pilate later lost his mind and wandered thru the mountains wringing his hands and screaming about "innocent blood."

No person can evade his own personal responsibility toward accepting or rejecting Christ.

2. HEROD—This man had fallen in love with his brother's wife. He was living in open sin. There had been a time when he had been touched by the preaching of John the Baptist. Now his heart has been hardened by sin. See him place the royal robe on Jesus and take part in mocking him. That is what sin will finally do for any person.

been enemies up to this time. "Birds of a feather flock together," my mother used to say. These two evil men became friends because of their common rejection of Christ. My! what a terrible friendship. The happiest friendship in this world are formed between followers of Christ. The most miserable people in this world are friends without Christ. Friendships based on things of the world have no solid foundation. Such friendships are easily broken.

III. PILATE UNDECIDED (VV. 13-18)

One minute Pilate had his mind made up to set Jesus free and the next minute he was listening to the worldly crowds. History might tell a glorious story about Herod, if he had not listened to the worldly mob.

There are many people like Herod today. Indecision is one of the very worst kinds of spiritual maladies. There are people today who want to accept Christ and live for him, but the world calls, and they listen. They keep putting off the all-important decision.

CONCLUSION—THE TWO THIEVES (VV. 39-43)

Here we see two wicked men. They were sinners in the sight of God as well as man. They were dying at the hands of the government because of their crimes.

One of these men turned and began to use abusive language against Christ. He mocked Jesus by saying: "If you are the Christ, why don't you save yourself and us?"

The thief on the other side of Jesus was humble. He rebuked the first thief for his language, and he then turned to Jesus, and said: "Lord, remember me when thou comest into Thy Kingdom." That humble prayer was answered. Jesus saved his soul immediately, and promised to meet him that day in Paradise. Yes, people can be saved on their death-bed, but no person knows when he will die. Why take a chance? Why not confess your sins to God now and trust Christ as your own personal Saviour?

Recommend State Board for Junior High Competition

CHAMPAIGN (UP)—A University of Illinois professor recommended today the formation of a board of control for junior high school interscholastic competition.

Prof. J. Lloyd Trump of the education college proposed that the board should be similar to that of the Illinois High School Assn., and include within its jurisdiction all interscholastic competition including athletics.

Trump spoke before about 500 junior high and elementary school principals and teachers attending a University of Illinois conference on extracurricular activities.

The problem of interscholastic athletics becomes more acute as the number of junior high schools increases throughout the state, he said. An elected board of control with an executive secretarial staff to exercise rigid controls over these activities "will prevent exploitation of younger athletes," he said.

Trump also recommended that junior high schools emphasize intramural rather than interscholastic athletics, and that there be more teams and fewer games in interscholastic competition.

Warriors Beat Nats, 109-87, in First Playoff Test

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The class of Philadelphia Warriors, Eastern Division champions of the National Basketball Association, journeyed to Syracuse today for a Palm Sunday meeting with the Nats in the hope of notching their second straight playoff victory.

The Warriors steamrolled over the Syracuse five, 109-87, Friday night in Convention Hall, breaking a club record in a playoff game but more important gaining a 1-0 edge in the best of five series against the defending NBA champs.

The Warriors' point production eclipsed their previous high set back on March 2, 1952, when they scored a 106-35 victory over a Syracuse squad. The 196 point two team total was also a record for a Warrior playoff game, topping the same 1952 contest by one point.

Wayne Green, store owner, was master of ceremonies for the event, at which Cy Davis, Smith-Alsop paint company representative from Terre Haute, Ind., spoke

Conley's Arm Re-Injured; Blow to Braves

By United Press
Only a week ago the Milwaukee Braves discounted reports that Gene Conley was all through as a pitcher, but today they sadly announced that the six-foot-eight right-hander has re-injured his throwing arm.

Conley, the mainstay of the Milwaukee staff and the guy who could beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, reported stiffness in his right shoulder and it was later diagnosed as an injury to the ligaments that hold together the bones of the shoulder.

The injury is the same as the one that befell the 25-year-old hurler in mid-August of last season. General Manager John Quinn announced Conley will have a thorough examination on Monday by Dr. Michael Di Cisola at Sarasota.

The likeable 25-year-old pitcher, who resides in Richland, Wash., during the off-season, compiled a 5-2 record against the Dodgers in 1954, his rookie season, but slipped to an overall record of 6-6 last season.

White Sox Rookie Stars

Meanwhile, the way rookie shortstop Luis Aparicio is fielding it won't take Chicago White Sox fans long to forget Chico Carrasquel. The slender shortstop and rookie second baseman Sam Esposito handled 12 chances flawlessly Friday as the Sox downed the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3. Aparicio had six assists during the tight contest and it marked the fifth straight game in which he hasn't committed an error.

Elsewhere, home runs by Jim Delsing and Frank House paced the Tigers to a 3-2 win over the Pirates. Ruben Gomez gave up only two hits in six innings as the Giants defeated the Indians, 10-1. The Redlegs downed the Braves, 2-1, on Wally Post's two-run homer. A seven-run inning, sparked by Stan Musial's three-run homer, enabled the Cardinals to defeat the Red Sox, 9-2. A pair of home runs by Harry (Suitcase) Simpson paced the Athletics to a 9-0 triumph over the Yankees. And the Dodgers downed the Senators, 9-5, in a night game.

about new products and improvements in paint.

Gifts were presented to each person present. In addition, there were two attendance prizes. Winning a side of bacon was J. A. Wasson. J. L. Irvin was awarded a painter's floor lamp.

The dinner was served by the Women's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist church, in charge of Mrs. Donald O'Neal.

Hawks Meet Fort Wayne; Favored to Play for Pro Title

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The St. Louis Hawks, one-point winners in three of their last four National Basketball Association playoff games, meet Fort Wayne for a second time today in a nationally televised contest at the Washington University fieldhouse.

The Hawks, relegated to third place in the Western Division in a separate playoff with the Minneapolis Lakers, have advanced to the favorite's role by beating the Lakers, 116-115, and the Pistons, 86-85, on successive nights.

With six victories over Fort Wayne in their last eight meetings Coach Red Holzman's team appears likely to reach the championship bracket against the Eastern Division winner.

Nonetheless, the Pistons cannot be counted out so early in the long series. The height advantage of owner Fred Zollner's club always gives the Hawks trouble.

Tiger Jones Wins Decision Over Humez; Demands Title Match

NEW YORK (UP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones, who scored a close upset decision over European middleweight champion Charles Humez of France Friday night at Madison Square Garden, demanded a world title match with Ray Robinson today, while Humez demanded a rematch with Jones.

It was a bruising, exciting fight and Jones won the split decision by the margin of a single point of Judge Frank Forbes, who scored it 5-5 in rounds and 8-7 in points. Judge Bert Grant scored it 5-4-1 for Humez and Referee Ruby Goldstein called it 5-4-1 for Jones.

Dons' 6-10 Bill Russell Sparks Team to 83-71 Win Over Iowa Hawks

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP)—San Francisco's unbeaten Dons held the NCAA basketball title for the second straight year today, but it's a mistake to declare that the team won it.

Instead give credit to six-foot, 10-inch Bill Russell, a defensive genius who can also score points when his team needs an edge.

That was the tab hung on the Dons' senior center, an All-American for the past two years, by both his own coach, Phil Woolpert, and Iowa's Bucky O'Connor.

Russell and the Dons extended their winning streak to 55 games (29 this season) in clipping the valiant Hawkeyes for the title, 83-71.

Brown a Key

Woolpert declared that Gene Brown, a sophomore replacement for star guard K. C. Jones, who was ineligible for the tourney because he had played in three previous seasons, also was a key man in the win.

But none of the Iowa players, nor his San Francisco mates, could dim the luster of Russell. He scored 26 points, knocked away at least six sure Iowa baskets, and grabbed 27 of San Francisco's 60 rebounds.

Iowa, shooting .325 for the night, grabbed an 11 point lead in the first half but the Dons pecked away for a 38-33 margin at the half. Then in one scoring burst early in the second half, the Dons looped in 10 points for a 13 point margin.

Iowa never thereafter came closer than nine points.

Russell Shared Honors
Russell, though the standout of the title game, had to share honors for the night and the tourney with Temple's flashy guard, Hal Lear, who set three tourney scoring records to spark the Owls to a 90-81 win over Southern Methodist for third place in the meet.

Lear looped 48 points to set a single game scoring mark, eclipsing the mark of 45 by Washington's Bob Houbregs in 1945. His total field goals for the tourney, 63, was another new record, compared to Houbregs' 57, and he tallied 160 points in five games for another mark.

The old record for five games was 118 by Russell last year, while the mark for four games was 141

by Clyde Lovellette of Kansas in 1952.

Russell the Difference

"The difference, without a doubt, was Russell," Woolpert said of the Iowa-Dons game. "We met a tremendous basketball team, and they gave us trouble on the boards in the first half."

O'Connor, declaring San Francisco "a great team," said "We played them on even terms and we kept right in there until the end. But the difference was Russell."

"It's tough to have a ball batted back at you after you shoot and Russell did that all night. You don't find many teams that can win by 12 points and still be as scared as they were."

"You can't beat anybody shooting 32 per cent," O'Connor said, "and they shot 40. We missed at least eight layups and if we'd made half of them we'd have been in the game. If they're the nation's best team, and I guess they are, then we're the second best."

Carl Cain shared high point honors for Iowa with Bill Seaberg with 17 each.

Iowa, though beaten in the finals, still set two new team scoring records, 340 for total points in four games compared to 310 by Indiana in 1953 and 119 field goals in four games compared to 118 by Washington in 1953. San Francisco also bettered Indiana's mark with 333 points this year.

Campy's Bad News for Batters: Wait'll You See Williams, Drysdale!

MIAMI, Fla. (NEA)—Discussing the Dodgers' pitching, Roy Campanella looks beyond the staff that made a shambles of the National League race and won Brooklyn's first World Series.

Ask him about the young fellows, and the burly backstop's brown eyes light up, as he leads off with a pair of towering 19-year-old right-handers, Stanley Williams and Don Drysdale.

They'll go out this spring, of course, but Campanella, an authority on the subject, assures you that they'll be back.

"There's a couple of guys what can pitch," he says, watching the young giants warm up in front of the Brooks' dugout at Miami Stadium.

When Walter Alston was seriously considering pitching the batboy, or maybe a peanut butcher, last mid-July, Don Bessent and Roger Craig dropped in from St. Paul and Montreal, respectively, to sweep a double-header, straighten out the staff and permit the Superbas to maintain their momentum.

Campanella is certain that the Dodgers will have another pair who within a year or two, perhaps sooner, will be ready to do the same thing.

INDEED IN HIS FIRST two exhibition appearances — against the Braves and Tigers — the six-foot-five, 205-pound Williams acted as though he intended to stick with the parent club as of right now. He yielded only one hit in seven scoreless innings, striking out five and walking the same number.

"He throws nothing but peas," repeats Campanella, whistling to stress the point. "All he has to do is get a piece of the plate. They ain't a-goin' to hit it."

Williams' curve at the moment is mediocre, but, like Walter Johnson and numerous other fireballers before him, he's a sucker to get away from the live hard one.

Williams has to be schooled in fielding bunts and throwing the ball to second base, but he's a highly intelligent lad who wants to be a great pitcher, and it won't be long before he's letter perfect.

WILLIAMS, A HANDSOME native of New Hampshire plucked out of a Denver high school, last season broke Johnny Vander Meer's B Piedmont League record by striking out 301 while walking 158 and leading the loop with an earned-run average of 2.42 winning 18 and losing 7.

Drysdale — 6-5, 190 — showed so much in the fast C California League that he was elevated to Triple A. He started well for Montreal and then, boy-like, hurt his hand opening a soft drink bottle and went home early, with 11-11, 11 complete games in 27, an ERA of 3.3 and 80 strikeouts and no more than 68 bases on balls in 173 innings. He's extremely swift with the slingshot delivery and big windup of Ewell Blackwell.

Don Drysdale, who could be mistaken for a romantic lead in the movies, was signed fresh from Van Nuys High, a 2-iron shot from Hollywood.

The Dodgers stay on top by grabbin' 'em before they know any better.

Dayton Favored Over Louisville in NIT Championship Tilt

NEW YORK (UP)—Dayton's towering Flyers, hoping for just one good Madison Square Garden game from seven-foot Bill Uhl in his final collegiate performance, are favored over Louisville by three points in today's National Invitation Basketball tournament final.

A nationwide television audience will watch the game over the Columbia Broadcasting System, starting at 3 p. m., EST.
